Course Description

This course is an introduction to the use of accounting information by managers for decision-making, planning, control, and performance evaluation roles. The goal is to provide students with a conceptual framework and the basic tools for identifying and resolving accounting issues faced by managers regardless of their background and specific job-related duties. This course is somewhat of a "how-to" course, introducing several generic management tools, procedures, perspectives, and issues that are basic to the management process. The course should be useful for those who intend to work as management consultants, and in general, for those who will become senior managers.

Learning Objectives

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Define and classify cost accounting concepts used by managers.
 - Calculate and analyze costs used by manufacturing organizations using various costing methods.
 - Distinguish between types of cost behaviors and investigate the relationships between costs, volume, and profit.
 - Understand how standard costs are determined and variances are investigated.
 - Understand how management accounting utilizes financial accounting information for the measurement of the performance of individuals and business segments.
 - Effectively use the understanding of management accounting principles to facilitate the analysis of information that is relevant in decision-making.
